

V.2.0 Resumes that Win!

Course Overview:

By the end of this 120-minute online/on-demand course, learners will have produced a resume. This course is designed to help students, graduates, career changers, newcomers and those returning to work understand from a recruiter/potential employer's perspective the key considerations when building a resume that will catch attention quickly. The course covers expectations within the North American market, teaches a technique called goal job analysis to identify the key requirements of a target position, along with understanding how to identify and successfully communicate their most in-demand transferable skills. With this foundation in place, we then take a step-by-step journey to build a resume using one of our downloadable templates. From contact information to relevant experience through to polishing off and customizing the resume to a job ad, students and graduates will walk away from this course with a winning resume and skills for life!
